By E. D. AKE.
IRONTON, MISSOURI

M. Combes, who until a short time ago was prime minister of France, is a physician and is again practicing his profession.

J. Howard Larcombe, the one-time associate of the railroad king, Tom Scott, and of Andrew Carnegie, the ironmaster, is a clerk in the pension office at Washington.

American ladies in London have organized a club called the "American Women's Club." They have furnished a club-house, which is conducted exactly like a man's club.

Beneath the floor of a Roman dwelling which a peasant has discovered at Mende, Lozere, in the south of France, was found a casket containing coins dated in the third century.

At Grahamstown, South Africa, a pair of ostriches were sold recently for $5,000, which is a record price. The plucking of the chicks of the pair realized from $50 to $62.50 a bird.

A man with lots of time on his hands has figured that $25,000,000 is spent on cabs in London each year. He further figures that over $7,000,000 of this amount is for tips and over charges.

Bradley Pratt, a prominent citizen of Rutland, Vt., has just died in that city at the age of 94. His father lived to be 101 years of age, and four surviving brothers' and sisters' ages aggregate 333 years.

Australia is considering the introduction of the metric system and a bill providing for its use will be introduced at the next session of the commonwealth parliament. The idea is to make the system permissive for a certain time, reserving the right to make it compulsory at a given period.

H. P. Wilson, the sweet potato king of Oklahoma, last year raised 5,000 bushels of sweet potatoes and this year he will plant 50 acres to that crop. Mustang township is the great sweet potato raising region of Oklahoma, and the acreage will be much larger this season than in any previous year.

Although the circus is an institution peculiarly and typically American, over 90 per cent. of the circus performers and specialists are foreigners. In Europe the struggles for existence is so sharp that people will attempt things in which failure means death, and which no American would think of undertaking, in order to fit themselves for the trapeze or the ring of some American circus, where they are certain of a good salary.

President Castro, of Venezuela, has been credited of late with feelings of bitterness toward Americans, but apparently he has not yet blacklisted us all. For at least one citizen of this offending republic he has quite recently displayed a discriminating regard. The American honored with his favor is no other than Gen. Sherman Bell, ex-adjutant-general of Colorado, who states that Castro has proffered him the position of commander of the Venezuelan army.

A Massachusetts judge has officially decided that an umbrella is property and fined a man $10 for appropriating to his own use one belonging to another person. Unless this opinion be reversed by a higher court its effect may be salutary in checking an abuse which has grown chronic of late years and causes much inconvenience, in addition to a certain pecuniary loss. The appropriation of other people's umbrellas has become so common that it has ceased to be a joke.

A resolution whose author is State Senator Edward C. Curtis has passed the Illinois legislature memorializing congress to erect in Washington a "monument to Abraham Lincoln that shall rank among the great monuments of the world, standing as long as this government shall endure, as a memorial in honor of the man who gave his life that government of the people, by the people, and for the people might not perish from the earth." The intention is to have the monument completed by 1909, the centenary of Lincoln's birthday.

The rain cure is now being tried by a number of persons in Austin, Tex., whenever opportunity is offered for taking the treatment. Some of those who have taken it say that it is a panacea for all chronic diseases as well as many of the lesser ills of the body. There is nothing complicated about the rain cure. All that is required of the patient is that he should stand in the open, with his body bare of all clothing, and let the falling rain pour on him. The sensation is said to be very agreeable and very strengthening to the nerves.

Frank W. Pettygrove, of Seattle, has the penny that named the city of Portland, Ore. On the loss of this coin depended the question whether the Willamette metropolis should be known as Portland or Boston. Twice the coin turned "tails," and the town was named after Portland, Me., the former home of Mr. Pettygrove's father. A. L. Lovejoy, of Massachusetts, a member of the party that laid out Portland, desired to name it Boston, after the most important city in his state. Pettygrove wanted to name it Portland for the same reason.

Aluminum paper is now manufactured in Germany and recommended as a substitute for the foil. According to a consular report it is not the so-called leaf aluminum, but real paper coated with powdered aluminum and is said to possess very favorable qualities for preserving articles of food, for which it is used as a covering. Chemical analysis has proved that aluminum paper contains but few foreign substances; occasionally it may contain up to 2 per cent. of iron but never any arsenic or other poisonous metals.

PRESIDENT TALKS PLAINLY

Words Uttered at the New York Chautauqua of Special Portent.

"Police Power as Necessary as Brotherly Love in Affairs Both at Home and Abroad."

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 12.—President Roosevelt arrived here at 8:45 a.m. on a special car over the Chautauqua traction line.

In his address to the 3,000 people who had gathered in the assembly grounds he said:

THE MONROE DOCTRINE is not a part of international law, but it is the fundamental feature of our entire foreign policy in the western hemisphere. Fossilization means death, whether to an individual, to a government, or to a doctrine.

The Monroe Doctrine must not be considered merely an excuse for territorial aggression. Nor must it be used for the evasion of just debts.

I believe that the ethical element is by degrees entering into the dealings of one nation with another. BUT POLICE POWER IS AS NECESSARY AS BROTHERLY LOVE.

The effort to prevent all restraint of competition has been ill-judged. WHAT IS NEEDED is a vigilant and effective control of combinations formed.

Reasonable regulation must be submitted to or government action of more drastic type must be taken.

I believe all corporations engaged in interstate commerce should be under the supervision of the national government.

WE MAY HAVE TO FORCE all corporations engaged in interstate commerce to produce proof that they are in no monopoly in restraint of trade, or if failing to do so, forfeit their charters.

Some of the exceptional men use their energies in ways that are not for the common good, and by so doing they are not only wrong smaller and less able men—whether wage-workers or small producers and traders—but force other men of exceptional abilities themselves to do what is wrong under penalty of falling behind in the keen race for success.

THERE IS NEED OF LEGISLATION TO STRIVE TO MEET SUCH ABUSES.

CONTINUES TO EXPAND

Fall Trade, According to Bradstreet's, is Showing a Gratifying and Expanding Activity.

New York, Aug. 11.—Bradstreet's Weekly review says:

One-half of the 1905 wool crop has been sold, worsted manufacturers report orders booked for six months. The shoe and leather trades are doing an increasing business at steadily advancing prices, cotton goods sellers cannot begin to satisfy requirements for prompt shipment, finished iron and steel show great activity, although there is some unrest in labor matters.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10.—Harry Johnson, held with Harry Parker by the police on suspicion of murdering Pawnbroker Joseph Meyer in this city, July 23, sent word to Capt. McDonnell, of the detective department, that he wanted to make a confession. After an assistant prosecuting attorney and a stenographer had been secured, the party of officials went to Johnson's cell to take his confession.

"I know all about the murder and will make a detailed statement if you will promise me immunity," he said, according to the officers. Assistant Prosecutor Wurzer replied that it was impossible, under the law, to make such a promise, and as Johnson did not evince a desire to continue his statement the officers left him.

MAY BE NO SPECIAL SESSION

President Roosevelt Has Not Decided the Question Definitely.

Strong Pressure Is Being Brought to Bear to Induce the President to Call It Off.

Cyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Notwithstanding the more or less definite announcement which has emanated from various sources during the last few months, congress may not be called into extraordinary session next November. Indeed, the indications are now that no extraordinary session will be held this year.

This statement is made on the authority of President Roosevelt himself. He has not decided the question definitely yet, and probably will not reach a decision of it until he shall have returned to Washington the latter part of September. The chances of an extraordinary session appear, however, to be fading.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the president to induce him not to call an extra session. So much interest has been manifested in the subject throughout the country that the president has received a large number of letters regarding it. Many senators and representatives have urged against an extra session. They point out that practically nothing will be gained by an extra session that will begin not more than three weeks before the opening of the regular long session, and that it will cause some inconvenience to many members of congress in both branches. Taking these things into consideration, the president has reserved a definite decision of the matter.

EIGHT ARE EXPECTED TO DIE

A Fast East-Bound Passenger Train Collided With a Freight at Kishman, O., as a Result of Disobedience of Orders.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—A fast east-bound passenger train on the Nickel Plate road collided with a west-bound freight train at Kishman, O., near Vermilion, resulting in the death of 12 persons, while at least 25 others were injured, eight of whom will probably die. The wreck, according to the officials of the company, was caused by a misunderstanding of orders, or neglect to obey them on the part of the crew of the freight train.

The Dead.

Charles W. Poole, engineer of passenger train, Conneaut, O.
Joseph Alexander, Newark, N. J.
Frank Weaver, Findlay, O.
Domenico Pomodoro, Italian laborer.
Antonio Grillo, Italian laborer.
Joseph Paraci, laborer.
Francisco Scilla, laborer.
Natale Dirmora, laborer.
Antonio Achille, laborer.
Galagus Travola, laborer.
Cologno Cagliani, laborer.

Aside from the engineer, the men killed on the passenger train were all riding in the smoking car at the head of the train and were mostly foreign laborers in the employ of the Standard Oil Co. on their way from Fort Seneca to Brookfield, O., in charge of a foreman, Engineer C. C. Poole, of the passenger train, was killed at his post while trying to reach for the air brake, after seeing the headlight of the freight train. His driver, Haefner, saved himself by jumping.

The high speed of the passenger train threw its locomotive and first three coaches over on the engine of the freight train, telescoping the smoke and the car following. The forward cars of the freight train were splintered to fragments.

Of the passengers in the smoker, none escaped injury. Fortunately there was no fire, but the heavy timbers of the wrecked cars pinned down many an prevented them from getting out until assistance arrived.

As soon as possible after the wreck occurred, doctors were sent on a special train to the scene from Lorain.

The injured were hurried to Lorain and placed in the hospital there. The dead were conveyed to the morgue at Lorain, awaiting identification and disposition.

When the trains came together, almost everybody in the smoker was doing. The sudden jar hurled them out of their seats into the aisle and threw several persons to the roof and sides of the car, which seemed all at once to crush in like a paper bag, pinning down each passenger in the position in which he had been caught. The passengers in the second car escaped more easily, as there the violence of the impact was not so severe, although few got off without cuts, bruises, sprains or broken bones. The two rear cars were steeped, and they withstood the shock without suffering serious harm. No passengers in the sleepers were injured.

The People Having Spoken, Sweden Will be Notified.

Norway Still Desires a King, But She Can Not Wait Forever on the House of Bernadotte.

Christiania, Aug. 15.—President C. C. Berner of the storting is quoted as saying:

"With the people's expression of approval of the action of the storting, our only step can be to communicate the result of the plebiscite to the Swedish cabinet, reiterating the views previously expressed. If Sweden desires a peaceful settlement and a lasting understanding, she will not insist on asking Norway to frame a request for Sweden's recognition of the dissolution and cancellation of the act of union in an objectionable manner. The riksdag's conditions are vague and might be understood as an ultimatum, but we are willing to negotiate."

"Norway at present desires to continue under a monarch. This fact and a spirit of conciliation caused our offer of the throne to a prince of the house of Bernadotte. This offer has brought forth no answer. Norway, however, can not wait forever, and in a reasonable time will consider the failure to answer as a refusal, and will invite another prince to occupy the throne."

"The storting would not take the responsibility of deciding in favor of a republic, but would refer that question to the people."
